SUDDEN DEATH OF FRANK A. SHURTLEFF.

At His Home in South Paris Last Thursday.
Highly Respected Citizen of His Town and County.

Seldom has this community been so saddened as it was Thursday of last week, when it was learned that Frank A. Shurtleff, one of our leading business men and a citizen holding the highest respect of all who knew him, had passed from this earthly realm. Taken with almost no warning from his relatives and many friends, and also from the midst of his many business duties, his sudden death cast a gloom, not only over this village but over the entire town and our neighboring town of Norway.

Mr. Shurtleff was taken ill while attending church on Sunday, the 19th, and immediately on his arrival home a physician was called and he was thought to be suffering from a severe case of acute indigestion. As he did not improve, a consultation of physicians was held Tuesday morning and it was decided that he was suffering from appendicitis, and must be operated on at once. Dr. John Thompson of Portland was summoned and performed the operation Tuesday afternoon. The case proved to be a very bad one and although he rallied from the operation and appeared to be fairly comfortable for a while, he was very low Thursday morning and during the early part of the afternoon, breathed his last.

Mr. Shurtleff, as the senior member of the well-known drug firm of F. A. Shurtleff & Co., held the friendship and respect of the large number of people which his business associated him with. He fitted himself as a druggist while a young man and started in business for himself in this village in 1887. In later years he took into company Charles H. Howard, and in 1906 the firm was incorporated with Frank A. Shurtleff, Charles H. Howard, Albert L. Clark and Arthur K. Shurtleff as the incorporators. The firm has been successful and done a large business in its store here as well as in some branch stores which they have run in other places.

Among the offices which Mr. Shurtleff held was that of town treasurer for a term of 16 years, treasurer of the South Paris Village Corporation for 19 years, secretary and treasurer of the M. Mica Building Association for 4 years, financial secretary of M. Mica Lodge for 10 years, secretary and treasurer of the Bethel Hill Cemetery Association, President of the South Paris Board of Trade, Director of the South Paris Savings Bank and the Paris Trust Company. He acted as collector for the Norway Water Company and several insurance companies.

For nineteen years Mr. Shurtleff has been a member of the Congregational church and has held a number of offices in connection with the church organization, always being ready to do his part towards the success of his church. He was a member of Mt. Mica Lodge, Aurora Encampment, and Mt. Pleasant Rebekah Lodge. Also of Hamlin Lodge, K. of P.

Mr. Shurtleff was married to Laura Clifford in 1889 and one son, Stanley was born to them. She died in 1891 and he married for his second wife, Mary Frances Parsons in 1897, who with the son survives him. He is also survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Shurtleff, two sisters, Mrs. Ida and Emma and one brother Arthur all of this village.

The funeral was held at the Congregational church Sunday afternoon at two o'clock in charge of Mr. Mica Lodge, I. O. O. F. with Hamlin Lodge, K. of P. also attending in a body. The church was filled to its capacity with people anxious to pay their last respect to one so worthy, many standing on the stairs in the vestibule during the service. Rev. A. T. McWhorter spoke briefly but his words were well chosen and very fitting, carrying with them much comfort. Music was furnished by a male quartet composed of Gen. A. Cutting and Roy E. Cole, tenors, and George A. and Carl E. Briggs, basses. The funeral services of the Old Fellows followed the regular service. The bearers were George R. Morton, Nelson G. Dayton, Walter, Edwin N. Haskell, Dayton, Walter, Edwin N. Haskell, the departed brother.

SUDDEN DEATH AT PROSPECT HOTEL.

Of Mrs. Lyman Cousins of Portland.
Just Arrived on Auto Tour from Bretton Woods.

Mrs. Lyman Cousins of Portland, died suddenly at Prospect Hotel in Bethel, last Monday night. Mr. and Mrs. Cousins with Mr. and Mrs. Dana of Westbrook, had been enjoying a few days autoing and came to Bethel from Bretton Woods Monday night. Mrs. Cousins is a cousin of Mrs. Hanson and with Mr. Cousins had spent the evening at Mr. and Mrs. Hanson's, returning to the hotel about nine o'clock. About 9:30 word was sent to Mr. Hanson's from the hotel that Mrs. Cousins had passed away.

The cause of death was the breaking of a blood vessel near the heart. Mrs. Cousins is one of Portland's prominent business men, and this sudden death brings a great shock to the family and a host of friends.

BETHEL CORN SHOP

Closed Its Season Last Saturday.

The corn shop finished canning last Saturday, having packed about one-half the usual amount. The quality of the corn was good and there was no loss from the corn which was canned.

At first it was a discouraging outlook, but the quantity and quality of the corn exceeded expectations. While some of the farmers suffered the loss of their corn it will be encouraging to recall that it has been twenty-one years since there has been such a freeze, so early in the season. There was an unusual fine crop in all departments of the work. Pay day for the crew was the 29th. The goods arrived Friday from Philadelphia before the pack was finished and labeling will begin as soon as labeling orders are received.

The H. F. Webb Co. has had a busy season, notwithstanding the early frost. At Norway they will get 450,000 cans, Leeds Center 400,000, Readfield 400,000.

Mr. Whitman will go to Norway to attend the canning of apples as soon as all business in connection with the Bethel factory is closed. The "Whitman boys" from Nova Scotia will remain for the labeling. The farmers will be paid off about October 23th.

Mr. Whitman's management the past seven years has given perfect satisfaction and this year has added one more to his success.

CHERRY STONE OYSTERS.

C. A. Lucas is always looking for the best that can be had for his customers and now announces that, beginning this week, he will carry the "Cherry Stone Oysters." These oysters are shipped direct from the factory in original cans packed in ice, hence are cleaner and every way better than oysters procured through wholesale houses. Just what the public have been looking for. Try the "Cherry Stone." 9-30 1 f

DENHOLM-THOMPSON.

Sept. 25, at the residence of Rev. Geo. H. Hannaferd, Rumford, Edward Denholm and Miss Mary F. Thompson were married. Mr. Denholm is an employee of the Oxford Paper Co. Miss Thompson has been for some time in the employ of Mrs. Walter G. Morse. The couple went on a bridal trip to Boston and other places. They will live on Hancock St.

Franklin Maxon, and Walter L. Bonney. The display of floral offerings was very large and beautiful.

Burial was in Riverside cemetery. The rain which fell during the afternoon, made the sad event seem even more sorrowful and the body of eighty Old Fellows and forty-five Knights of Pythias which followed the remains in the grave gave one more demonstration of the esteem in which they held the departed brother.

INVITED TO HAVE SOME "GOOD BEER."

Frank McAlee and George Rowe Followed Man And Got Invited out to Fight, A Queer Case.

Sunday night, Officer Brooks was called to River street to quell a disturbance. He arrested a Lithuanian named Ancevitich.

Frank McAlee was also taken into custody. The matter was thrashed out in the court Monday afternoon. Officer Brooks told of getting onto the scene of action just as Ancevitich was starting upstairs to the tenement over Hall's harness shop. Started after him, heard something drop on the stairs and picked up a file about a foot long and a piece of saw blade about six inches long. Ancevitich had his coat off. Did not appear to be drunk. Had been drinking some beer.

Officer Violette testified that a man (whom he knew to be a Lithuanian meat dealer, but did not know the name) overtook him Sunday night in a team by the Morse mill and said there was a big fight by Hall's shop. He went there at once, and found Brooks with the respondent in charge. Alfred Brooks in the arrests.

Frank McAlee testified that he and Mr. Geo. Rowe went to River street Sunday night about 7 o'clock looking for a room and boarding place for McAlee. A man, whom they took to be a Frenchman, invited them upstairs to have some beer. There was slugging up there. After getting up stairs the man went, as they supposed, for the beer, in a moment or so another man, whom he identified as Ancevitich, came into the hall and spoke to him and shook hands and said "I have seen you in Roxbury." "If then went out, and in a few minutes came in again, and this time asked if he wanted a fight. Upon being told "no," Ancevitich told them both to go down stairs. They did so, followed by Ancevitich. When they were down, Ancevitich struck McAlee with his fist and then with a slab. That knocked McAlee down. He got up and clinched with his assailant, who he says was making a motion to strike with the file.

Geo. Rowe, who was with him, corroborated the above story, and in a clear straightforward manner told the whole story. They stopped in front of the Hall store and were listening to the music. A man and wife came out of the tenement, and got into a team. They had a little child, and Mr. Rowe assisted in getting it into the wagon. The man then asked if they would like some "good beer." He said "no," and he and Mr. Rowe followed the man upstairs. He went somewhere but did not return until they were going down stairs, as told by the former witness. He came behind them.

Ancevitich testified through John Winkont, the interpreter, that McAlee hit him first. Denied ever having seen the file and saw blade. Said McAlee invited him down stairs. Did not think there was to be a fight. Two Lithuanian women corroborated the statements of Ancevitich. McAlee was bleeding and bore evidence of hard usage when found by the officer. Judge Stearns evidently thought it was six and half a dozen, for he fined Ancevitich $10, and McAlee $5. No costs.

A CEMENT BRIDGE POS.

The suggestion made in the Citizen two weeks ago that a cement bridge could be made across the Androscoggin created a great deal of interest and the bridge committee have taken steps to find out more about such work. There was a sentiment that even though the cement bridge cost as much to build as an iron and steel one, it would be better, for it would never need repairs. The idea that the bridge could be built at so low a cost as the correspondent stated was doubted, but it is considered by nearly every one as a feasible plan at twice the cost named. Upon receipt of information concerning such work, by the bridge committee, we shall lay it before the people, and give them a chance to discuss the matter understandingly.

How do you read station during the summer?

She—No; but I happen to fit.

BASE BALL.

Bethel K. O. K. A. Vs. Andover K. O. K. A. At Riverside Park, Bethel, Last Saturday.

The fall season of base ball opened in Bethel last Saturday afternoon with a plucky game between the Bethel and Andover K. O. K. A. teams. The teams were well matched and the game was characterized by honest clean ball playing. Though the players are young in age, as well as ball playing, yet the game was a good one; the boys showed some ball playing which would have done credit to more mature players.

Ten innings were required to name the winning team, the game standing in the seventh in the tenth, the visiting team bringing in three runs in the latter and skulking out the same team, in a score of 16 to 13.

PROHIBITION DOES NOT MAKE HYPOCRISY

Says Rev. Harry S. Ryder at Methodist Church, In a Temperance Sermon Last Sunday.

Last Sunday in the Rumford Methodist church, Rev. Harry S. Ryder preached upon the subject of temperance. The subject had been announced and in the course of his sermon the pastor admitted that he was interested to see if there would be a larger congregation than usual. The weather was threatening, and no doubt kept some persons away. The congregation was about the usual size for Sunday morning services. Those present listened with the closest attention to an earnest address from a man whose whole heart and mind was in his subject. He presented the subject both from the moral and prohibition view point. After a prayer by Rev. Geo. B. Hannaferd, Mr. Ryder announced his subject and took the 23rd verse in the 10th chapter of 1 Corinthians for a text. "All things are lawful for me, but all things are not expedient; not all things are lawful for me, but all things edify not."

We will not attempt to give the pastor's own words, but the substance of what he brought out. There were some things that, in themselves, are not wrong, but carried to excess are. There are few who contend that alcohol for use in manufacturing and in medicine are harmful, but when used as a beverage it is harmful, and all admit it. In speaking of the church the thought was expressed that it must stand against the sale of liquor, hence was opposed to efforts to abrogate the prohibitory law.

There are some who want to suppress the traffic by some other method, and are willing to rely upon making men discontinue the use of it by moral suasion. It is a good sounding theory.

ALL CORDIALLY INVITED.

L. M. STEARNS, Bethel.

Very much sympathy is expressed for Mrs. Mary Garland, who had the misfortune to fall and break her leg. Miss Nellie Chapman, graduate of a Philadelphia hospital is caring for her.

The regular meeting of the Order of the Eastern Star will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 6, D. D. G. M. Mrs. Jennie B. Watson will be present to inspect the Chapter. Let there be a full delegation.

A party of six Berlin people came down to attend the Universalist church last Sunday and were the guests of Mrs. O. M. Mason and Miss Mason. The party consisted of Messrs C. C. and Wm. Gerrish with their families. Older residents will recall the time when the parents of these two families were among our most loyal and respected citizens.

Sportsmen and amateurs should be more careful about their rifle practice. A stray bullet from the direction of Hastings' Island in the Androscoggin in Bethel, struck on the roof of the Hyerson house one day last week and rolled down on the door step where Mr. Arsenault was sitting. Three shots were fired and the whir of each of the other two was heard.

A large gathering of adults and children were present at the "Bally Day Service" at the M. E. church. The pastor discoursed upon "The Lad with Leaves and Flakes." He said that when the lad left his home, he had something. It was not very much he had, but it was something, and with Jesus' added blessing, it proved, in the end, as we read, a very great deal. This lad had in his basket that day, just what his mother put into it, and that was what he carried with him to feed on and feed others with all that day. Before his mother put the barley leaves and fishes into it, it was empty, afterward it was full. So it is with our children today. They have in their minds and hearts and characters and being as they grew up and go out into life, what we, their parents, put into them. What this lad had, was seen and known by others. Every young man and woman, new, is known and settled by those around them. People see what their children and young people are, and do, and promise for the future. This explains why some young men are wanted and others not. Why some are always rising higher and higher in the world and in the esteem of their fellowmen, and others not. It is not "luck" or "chance," that makes the difference. No! It is all because of what the young person is, and is known to be! Character and reputation decide all.

THE ECOTIST.

It's either this or else it's that. We lay the jaw down plump and flat. There's nothing of the diplomat. It's pretty sure about him. He hardly credits you with sense. To differ above you're very dense. He thinks it quite a great offense if you should seem to doubt him.

No sort of reason will be urged. To give that he may make it plain. He cannot help your lack of brain. He don't you get him settled. His declaration short and snuff. You may imagine to a bluff. But still he says it. That's enough! The matter should be settled.

I've done all that a woman can. Since first my married life began. To soothe and please the lordly man. And how to his dominion. I would not wish to be unkind. But, ah, I'd love to take and bind. And you know, and then free my mind. By giving my opinion.

NORWAY AND SOUTH PARIS

NORWAY.

Geo. P. Downing, the shoe man, is taking in the Fryeburg and Watford fairs this week.

The Norway business places were closed Saturday afternoon between the hours of one and two-thirty, this being done out of respect to the late Geo. E. Tabbs, treasurer of the Norway Savings Bank. Mr. Tabbs had been critically ill at the home of his mother, on Beal street for several weeks, and there passed away, Wednesday, Sept. 22 at the age of 53, leaving a widow, Isah I. (Millet) Tabbs; a son, Homer D. Tabbs, a daughter, Dorothy H. Tabbs, many relatives and a large circle of friends to mourn the loss. Rev. B. S. Bideout conducted the services held in the Beal street home Saturday afternoon, and the Oxford Lodge F. & A. M. performed their impressive rites in the home and at Pine Grove cemetery, where the remains were interred.

L. P. Bartlett of Boston, was in town last week, looking after the business in the B. F. Spinney & Co. factory.

Bonj. Cobb has given up his place with the Wm. Leavitt Co. and returns to the shoe factory.

The Mt. Hermon male quartet appeared in the Congregational church Friday evening for the benefit of the Norway High senior class. A small audience greeted the quartet but the regular program was given, and only words of warmest praise are heard for the excellent musical entertainment.

The dancing season opened last Saturday evening with a grand hop in the Opera House under the auspices of Stearns' Orchestra with Urshal Gammon as floor director. This will probably be made a weekly event from now on.

An excellent supper was served to all Good Templars in their hall, Monday evening. This lodge is one of the most active in the State, as a large membership proves.

J. H. Fletcher, the candy maker, has a fine collection of cut gems in his store window. Tourmalines, beryls and garnets in several sizes and shades, form an attractive display, nearly all being the result of Mr. Fletcher's skillful lapidary work. This gem cutting is but a hobby as he calls it, yet the quality will compare favorably with the more pretentious artisan.

Those two mounted Suge Hens in H. B. Foster's clothing store, have caused no end of speculation and guessing. Few local sportsmen could identify the birds, so opinions varied considerably, according to the degree of woodcraft knowledge. J. Waldo Nash, the taxidermist, did the mounting, and it is a smooth piece of work.

Harley True was on a hunting trip in Stoneham, from Friday until Monday.

Torace Pike has sold his tenement on Greenleaf avenue to Mary A. Rich, the transfer being made by the Dennis Pike Real Estate Agency. Harry Box, who occupied the upstairs rent, has moved into W. H. D. Smith's house at the Falls. Harold Anderson, occupying the first floor, is to have the Hubbard upstairs tenement on Beal street.

The Radcliffe base ball team have disbanded for the winter. Carl (Cy) Young and Joe (Kid) Harrison returned to their homes in Lawrence, Mass., Monday.

Frank Lansen will remain in town during the winter and coach the High School football team this fall.

Ladies' Night to be given by Pennessawasee lodge, No. 18, Knights of Pythias is an event for which every member of the order is working. Although the date is set for this social time is weeks ahead (Oct. 10), C. C. Harry Mann and K. B. and S. Arthur Lewis with other officers, are making early preparations. The Opera House and Stearns' Orchestra have been engaged for that date, so coming events certainly cast their shadows.

A reception in Odd Fellows hall Wednesday evening Sept. 29, to which the public school teachers, scholars and parents were invited, proved a brilliant social gathering.

Merle Russell, the youngster who injured his foot badly by getting it caught in a crank shaft of a motor boat, is able to walk about the house, yet cannot enter school for several weeks.

Go With A Rush.

The demand for that wonderful Stomach, Liver and Kidney cure, Dr. King's New Life Pills—is astounding. Chas. Fernald, Nathan Reynolds of Carleton, C. A. Gardner and H. J. Rey holds say they never saw the like. It is because they never fail to cure Constipation, Catarrh, Indigestion, Biliousness, Jaundice, Sick Headache, Chills and Malaria. Only 25c.

No, Indeed.

"Science seems to be puzzled by the strange beast recently captured by Mr. Hester."

SOUTH PARIS.

Mrs. Luella Smiley is visiting relatives in Worcester and friends in other parts of Massachusetts.

Prof. Hammond of the High School has moved his family here and has a rent on Wheeler street.

Charles Prescott is to move his family to Livermore Falls where he has been employed for some time.

Mt. Allen Lodge will work the initiative degree at its meeting this Thursday evening.

The selectmen have called a special town meeting to be held next Monday to elect a town treasurer to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Frank A. Shurtlett.

J. A. Kenney is quite seriously ill.

The Grand Trunk went out to the winter time schedule Sunday. There is very little difference in the time this winter and last. The morning train goes down at 5:30. The forenoon train crosses here at 9:50. The up train in the afternoon arrives at 2:35 and the down train at 4:30. The evening train from Portland is due at 8:47.

Editor Forbes of the Democrat, attended the fair at Canton Thursday of last week.

Stanley Wheeler has returned to U. of M. Wendall Rounds to Louisville, Ky., to complete his course in dentistry and Carl S. Briggs has entered Tufts College Dental School.

There were no services at the Universalist church last Sunday. It was expected that Rev. C. A. Knickerbocker, who preaches at Paris Hill during the summer, would speak in the afternoon but these arrangements were canceled because of Mr. Shurtlett's funeral.

Next Sunday all services will be held and Rev. Hannah J. Powell will occupy the pulpit for the next three months.

Two of the clubs of the village will begin their winter programs next Monday. The Buteperan Club will meet with Mrs. C. S. Briggs in the afternoon and the Seneca Club with Mrs. Frank Taylor in the evening.

The Mount Hermon Male Quartet has been giving concerts in this vicinity. Wednesday of last week they gave an excellent concert in the Methodist church. Thursday evening they sang at the Baptist church as a part of the entertainment following their successful harvest supper, and Friday evening they were at Norway.

Eight of Miss Grace Dean's young girl friends gave her a very pleasant surprise party at her home on Western avenue Saturday evening. They brought refreshments and a very pleasant evening was enjoyed.

THE DAIRY

GROW YOUR OWN DAIRY FEED

Home Grown Alfalfa and Cow Pea Hay are Found to Be Valuable by Tennessee Dairymen.

(Copyright, 1909.)

Too many dairy farmers are running to the mills and feed stores for supplies for their dairy cows. They know they need concentrates, but do not study the problem of feeding to a conclusion. Down in Tennessee they raise a great deal of cow pea hay and think much of it. Northern farmers might raise more to advantage. They are also beginning to know what alfalfa is down there, and they are feeding it largely in many sections of the state.

The Tennessee experiment station has helped the farmers immensely by experimenting with the different feeds for dairy and beef cattle. The investigators find that the cost of milk can be greatly reduced by replacing a part of the concentrates in the daily ration of the cow with some roughness rich in protein, such as alfalfa or cow pea hay.

It is an advantage to feed a dry roughness, which is intended to replace a part of the concentrates in a ration, with alfalfa, because of its succulent and palatable nature.

A ton of alfalfa or cow pea hay may be produced at a cost of from $3.00 to $5.00, whereas wheat bran costs from $20 to $25. From two or three tons of cow pea hay and from three to five tons of alfalfa can be obtained from an acre of land; hence there is a great advantage in the utilization of these roughnesses in the place of wheat bran.

Alfalfa and cow pea hay cannot be substituted to the best advantage for cottonseed meal, as this foodstuff is so very rich in protein that a larger bulk must be consumed than the capacity of the average cow will permit. The substitution of a roughness rich in protein for an expensive concentrate will enable the dairyman to make milk and butter at a less cost and will thus solve one of his most serious problems.

In substituting alfalfa hay for wheat bran it will be best to allow one and one-half pounds of alfalfa to each pound of wheat bran, and the results are likely to prove more satisfactory if the alfalfa is fed in a finely chopped condition.

These facts indicate that with alfalfa hay at $10 a ton and wheat bran at $20 the saving effected by substituting alfalfa for wheat bran would be $2.00 for every 100 pounds of butter and 19.8 cents for every 100 pounds of milk. The farmer could thus afford to sell his milk for 15.8 cents a hundred less than he now receives and his butter for about 32 cents, as compared with 25 cents a pound.

These experiments show why alfalfa has been frequently used as a basis of manufactured foodstuffs, and indicate that the farmer who can grow it makes a mistake in purchasing artificial stuffs of which it forms the basis.

When alfalfa was fed under the most favorable conditions a gallon of milk was obtained for 5.7 cents and a pound of butter for 10.4 cents. When cow pea hay was fed the lowest cost of a gallon of milk was 5.2 cents and of a pound of butter 9.4 cents. In localities where peas have grown well it can be utilized to replace wheat bran, and in sections where alfalfa can be grown this crop can be substituted for cow pea hay with satisfaction.

PROFIT IN MAKING BUTTER

If High Grade Can Be Made at Home with a Good Market It Pays Well.

There is good profit in making butter at home, if you can make a high grade product and have a good market for it. The creamery pays you only for an exact pound of butter fat, with two or three pounds of milk thrown in for nothing. Churning the cream at home, you save the cost of churning which the creamery charges for; you gain about 16 per cent. in weight of the butter; and you gain the buttermilk. These combined gains amount to about 25 per cent., or one pound in every four. In other words, you make about 25 cents on every dollar's worth of butter, if you make as good butter as the creamery product.

By the use of the hand separator it is possible to make the highest grade of butter at home, provided the cream is properly handled and churned. By the use of the separator you are not only able to make a higher grade of butter and sell it for a higher price, but you will be able to extract more cream from the milk and hence make more butter. Also, the warm sweet skim milk will have a higher food value either for human use or for animal feeding. If you keep more than three or four cows, by all means buy a separator. It will soon pay for itself.

Hints for the Dairy. Here are a few hints as to how a dairyman can improve his milk. Use plenty of sweetfeed. Clip the flanks. Avoid feeding directly before milking. Use small top pails. Milk with clean, dry hands. Cool the milk quickly and keep it cold. There are only three requirements for good milk, simply healthy cows, cleanliness and cold.

LOCAL HISTORY.

Rev. Chas. Frost, Bethel
West Parish Congregational Church.

Incidental Memorandum—By Leonard B. Chapman.
Number 24.

SETTLEMENT OF DIFFICULTIES.

The Androscoggin river having been declared by both sides of those residing upon the north side of the river as an impassable barrier between themselves and those residing upon the opposite side, having manifested by argument and vote a determination not to yield, a council of representative scribes and elders of the neighboring Congregational churches, was convened, and after a conference of two days, an amicable settlement was reached, the center of the Androscoggin river being fixed upon as the dividing line between the conflicting factions of the West parish, which was unanimously accepted, and each clan went its own way rejoicing that matters in dispute were no worse than outward appearances indicated. Those residing upon the northward side of the river took the necessary steps to organize a new society which was done January 31, 1849, and December 31, of that year their new house for public worship was dedicated, the society adopting the name of "The Second Congregational Church of Bethel," while the "West" was changed in name to that of "First of Bethel." The report of the dedicatory ceremony of the Second church edifice that appeared in the Portland Christian Mirror was copied by the Bethel News of March 6, 1901, which contained a copy of the "Original lines written for the occasion." The Rev. Daniel Garland, born in Newfield, Me., March 23, 1815, a graduate of Amherst college, became the pastor in April of the same year and was ordained August 15. He was the first and only pastor of the Second church of Bethel.

Rev. Charles Frost at the installation, extended to him the right hand of fellowship, personally, and for the other congregational church society members in a very affecting manner, and the two societies soon learned there was room enough for both organizations and they lived in harmony and reciprocal manifestations of respect, the harmony never disappearing.

Parson Garland was united in marriage with Miss Mary E., daughter of Thaddeus Twitchell, Sept. 17, 1849, who departed this life Jan. 23, 1867, and he took for his second wife, Mary Jane Barker, but I am unable to state her parentage. He left the world as he hoped he would, while addressing his people, Oct. 10, 1884, on Sunday.

The meeting house stood a short distance from the north side of the bridge over the Androscoggin river and was of the frame of the old meeting house was used in its construction. It was painted white and had a steeple. The parsonage stands upon the same side of the road as the meeting house, a short distance northerly of it—a two story structure, painted white. The spot is now locally known as "Mayville," whether to perpetuate the name of Mayson, who formerly occupied the house or because the land is adapted and produces readily the trailing rhododendron and other early spring flowers, has not appeared in print that I have noted. It certainly is a very feminine name.

A good story is told of Parson Garland. The time was during the war of the States and the scene was political—there running high as the hills around Bethel. There was to be a Democratic convention meeting and a self constituted committee of Republicans thought it would be a good joke to send a clergyman to open the meeting with prayer and want for Parson Wheelwright (Rev. J. B. Wheelwright) who was officiating at the Hill Congregational church, also being something of a political humorist, declined the invitation and refused to appear in print that I have noted. It certainly is a very feminine name.

Maine Home Missionary Society" of 1867, there appears a paragraph over the signature of "D. Garland" of Bethel, dated May 5, 1866, that reads as follows:

"Rev. Charles Frost was born in Limerick, Jan. 12, 1796. At the age of twelve years he removed with his father and family to Gorham, Me. He became interested in religion under the preaching of Asa Rand, pastor at Gorham 1809-1832. He studied theology with his pastor. He commenced his labors in Bethel in Nov. 1820 and was ordained Feb. 20, 1822. He enjoyed several revivals in one of which more than sixty persons joined the church." July 6, 1890, the Second Congregational society voted to disband and closed the doors of the church edifice to the public as a resort for public worship and the descendants of the "prodigals" returned to the home of their father's, less than a mile distant, a free bridge making the way more easy, though by a vote of the town no toll was collected of persons passing to and from religious meetings. While the town "Cattle Show and Fair" with race course attached was kept intact the meeting house was used as an EXHIBITION HALL but when all this became defunct there was no further use for the structure and it was sold and during the month of May, 1900, demolished, some of the timber going into an addition to the Novelty Works building.

The roster that was perched upon the staff that surmounted the cupola of the old meeting house structure during its existence of near half a century, though dead, "still lives" in seclusion, weather beaten and otherwise disfigured, though not seriously, from musket shot lodged in its body by wayward youth, now a century old, neglected, out of sight—hence out of mind, "unhonored and unmourned," because forgotten. Its predecessor in Portland, now perched upon the tower of the First National Bank building, to which reference has been made in a previous issue of the Citizen, has not a different fate. It has been the subject of the local poet and historian. It received long since a column newspaper notice which is lodged in the archives of the Maine Historical Society. The work of the poet has also been placed where it will be preserved. Such being the fate of the Portland chandelier, why not bring the BETHEL BIRD out from its seclusion and present to the public its written history that now exists in tradition only? Calvin Twitchell made it from a "LIVE MODEL" alone and unaided in a room of his father's residence, who was a son of Dea. Ezra Twitchell, the Deacon departing this life, May 18, 1821, his grandson, Alphis Twitchell occupying the farm after him.

Calvin with his live model and his pocket knife kept everybody from his room till his project materialized and was placed upon exhibition when the shouts from spectators were loud and long.

Calvin was an uncle to the late Samuel B. Twitchell, who rescued the bird from total loss and by the aid of his daughters the bird, now of an historical character will receive the protecting care to which it is entitled. Like most of other places, Bethel has been bereft of its ancient land marks. The fort, located westerly of the Hill, three generations of schoolhouses, the first meeting house, the military training field, the brick powder house, "social library," singing association, Academy building and elder mill are all gone, and it may be feelingly said—
"Stop, man! Where dost thou run?
Hear'n lies within thy heart.
If thou seek'st God elsewhere,
Mistled, in truth, thou art."
(To be continued.)

THE BOYS' DORMITORY, HEBRON ACADEMY.

A Statement and an Appeal.

The new dormitory for boys at Hebron Academy is nearing completion. In another week the plastering will be completed. The plumbing, electric wiring, and piping for steam heat are all as far along as they possibly can be at this stage of the progress of the building. The contracts for furnishing, for grading, and for the absolute completion of the building and grounds to the point of readiness for occupancy are all signed. The building is 30 feet long, 40 feet wide, three stories contains 32 rooms for students, a suite of rooms with bath for the master in charge; two spacious recreation rooms on the first floor, with two fireplaces, for the boys; ample bath room in the basement, with shower bath, etc.; and a spacious fireproof vault. The building is of brick, concrete, iron, southern pine, and is built with the same thickness of walls, the same solidity, and permanency of construction as Waterville Home. This building is promised by the trustees, Smith & Ramsey of Portland, to be ready for occupancy Nov. 1st. Commenced work in June, 1909, and is now nearly completed. The building will cost $30,000. The site and grounds graded, this building will cost $30,000. The site and grounds graded, this building will cost $30,000. The site and grounds graded, this building will cost $30,000.

CANTON FAIR

A GREAT SUCCESS.

Best Fair Ever Held on the Grounds.

A Complete List of Premiums Awarded.

The best fair ever held on Canton fair grounds, was the verdict of the big crowds which attended the Canton fair last week. The races were the best, the ball games were good, and the drills by the Hartford and Farmington militia were exceedingly fine and interesting. The exhibits in all departments were better than ever, Canton Grange and Rockemeka Grange of West Peru had two of the best exhibits in years and occupied nearly two-thirds of the upper hall in the exhibition building. Although Rockemeka Grange carried away first prize, being a few points ahead, Canton Grange came in a close second and both exhibits were a credit to the several committees in charge and the officers of the fair were much pleased with the good showing made by the Granges. The general exhibit was also of the best and some exquisite work was shown, especially in the needle work department.

Following are the list of premiums:

His Finish. "Give woman the credit she deserves," the suffragette cried, "and where would man be?" "If he got all the credit she wanted, he'd be in the poorhouse," answered a coarse person in the rear of the hall.

The Art of Salesmanship. "It makes you look small," says the lady to the big woman who is trying on the hat. "It makes you look plump," she says to the slender woman. "It makes you look young," she says to the obviously middle-aged woman. "It makes you look tall," she says to the short woman. "It makes you look short," she says to the tall woman. "It brightens your face," she says to the dark woman. "It brings out your color," she says to the pale woman. And all the while she is saying these things, she is looking at her reflection in the mirror.

Last Wednesday, while four men were working on Katie Sharland's new house on Highland Terrace, the staging which was old and rotten, broke and let them fall to the ground. Storer Wright was the most unfortunate of the four, as he was at the bottom of the pile and he was knocked senseless, remaining in that condition for three or four hours. His right arm was broken and his face bruised badly. Hiram Richards was badly lamed, but the other two escaped without injury. It will be several weeks before Mr. Wright will be able to resume work.

Mr. Myers, a telegraph operator at Rumford, has moved into the C. L. Howard house on Whitman street.

Grange News.

The members of the Swift River Grange are invited to a corn roast to be held at the home of Ira Wing on Saturday evening of this week. It is needless to say that a grand good time will be enjoyed.

Last Saturday evening was the regular meeting of the Grange, and an unusually pleasant meeting was enjoyed. Owing to the inability of Master Goff to be present for the next three months, Overseer W. A. Glavan was chosen to take his place and Mrs. F. P. Gleason to take his place as Overseer. There was a splendid entertainment, with vocal solos by O. P. Smith, Ira Wing and Frank Virgin and reading by Mrs. Ira Wing. Remarks for the good of the Order by O. P. Smith and W. A. Glavan, remarks by Mrs. F. P. Gleason. A very interesting and enjoyable meeting was spent.

On Oct. 6th, will be the annual installation of officers with a pie social and every lady is requested to bring a pie.

The Swift River Grange Circle met last Thursday at the home of Mrs. H. J. Haines. Plans for the annual fair were made to be held early in the winter and a busy afternoon was spent and refreshments served by the hostess.

English Orange Marmalade. Two dozen juicy oranges, six lemons (only use juice of), cut rinds of oranges in quarters, put in pan with cold water. When hot empty water out, lay rind on board, while side up, and with small knife cut all white out, then slice rind in very thin, narrow strips. Peel off all the white of the orange, then quarter in small pieces and put on to boil until cooked. This, run through a sieve; pulp, throw away. The juice and the sliced peel measure and put equal sugar; boil this all together until thick; stir often.

Ideal Cream Toast. Cut stale bread one inch thick, trim off crust and cut into even cubes. Toast these in a hot oven or under gas flame so that the inner portion will be dry and the outside a light brown. Serve these cubes in small bowls or cereal dishes and turn hot thin cream over, which should be served in a small hot pitcher. Instead of cream use a thin white sauce cooked in a double boiler not less than twenty minutes.

Californian Tart. Required: Half a pound of prunes, quarter of a pound of sugar, half a pint of water, one pound of apples, lemon peel, pastry. Stew the prunes with the lemon peel, sugar and water till almost soft. Next add the apples pared and cored, and cook all together till perfectly tender. Place the stewed fruit in a pie dish, add a pinch of mixed spices. Cover with pastry like an ordinary tart and bake for half an hour.

DOCTOR ADVISED OPERATION

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Paw Paw, Mich.—"I suffered terribly from female ills, including inflammation and congestion, for several years. My doctor said there was no hope for me but an operation. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I can now say I am a well woman." —EASTA DRAZEN.

Another Operation Avoided. Chicago, Ill.—"I want women to know what that wonderful medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, has done for me. Two of the best doctors in Chicago said I would die if I did not have an operation, and I never thought of seeing a well day again. I had a small tumor and female troubles so that I suffered day and night. A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it made me a well woman." —MRS. ALYSSA SPERLING, 11 Langdon St., Chicago, Ill.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has proved to be the most successful remedy for curing the worst forms of female ills, including displacements, inflammation, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result has been worth millions to many suffering women.

USING A LANTERN IN STABLE

Method of Placing Light in Barn to Get Best Results; No Danger of Overturning.

A good way to get a good light in stable and avoid all danger of the lantern being overturned is to stretch a smooth wire from one end of the barn to the other just back of the horse stalls. Hang a lantern on a common harness snap and attach it to the wire and slide the lantern wherever it is needed. The wire should be high enough to be out of the way.

Feeding Cows. Animals of the same variety are not alike, and scarcely any two will do equally well on the same food. Each animal's wants should be well supplied, if possible. Cattle of different ages should be separated for feeding, as the weak ones will not do well with the strong. Cows are weak and shy; it takes them longer to eat their meals and they should therefore be put where they can not be dominated by superiors in strength.

Weaning Pigs. Pigs should be at least eight weeks old before they are weaned, and if it is not intended that the sow should nurse a second litter it is best to allow the pigs to suckle until they are ten to twelve weeks of age.

Sheep Manure. Prof. Roberts of Cornell University, says the fertilizer produced by a sheep in a year is worth $1.17. While the most of this is left in the pasture, its value to the farmer depends much upon the condition of the grass there. Many of our pastures are in such condition that their head breasting up and receding as much as they do fertilizers, and until something is done to remedy this trouble the value of the manure made by the sheep would be some extent be wasted. We know that the sheep improves the pasture by killing many varieties of weeds, and thus gives the grass a better chance; but the sheep should not be forced to live entirely upon weeds.

Feeding Cows. Animals of the same variety are not alike, and scarcely any two will do equally well on the same food. Each animal's wants should be well supplied, if possible. Cattle of different ages should be separated for feeding, as the weak ones will not do well with the strong. HEART THRILLING GEMS.

DESTINED TO PROVOKE A SMILE, COAX A TEAR, CAUSE A TUG AT THE HEARTSTRINGS, CAST A GLEAM OF LIGHT INTO THE DARKEST CORNERS AND BRING A THRILL OF JOY INTO EVERY LIFE WHICH THEY TOUCH.

THE MAN WHO TRIES.

Sing me a song of the man who tries,
The man who pictures his goal ahead
And keeps it before his eyes,
Determined to reach it with faithful tread;
Who falls today, but tomorrow comes Right back to the hill he wants to climb,
And a merry song from his heart he brings—
There is the man who will win
some time.

Sing me a song of the man who tries,
The man who follows a certain way,
Who journeys on under laden skies,
Content with the progress made
each day;
Who slips and falls, but with courage great
And faith in himself that is sublime,
Still fights his battle with men and fate—
There is the man who will win
some time.

LET US SMILE.

The thing that goes the farthest to make smiling life worth while,
That comes the best and does the most,
Is just a pleasant smile.
The smile that bubbles from a heart that loves the fellowmen Will drive away the cloud of gloom
and coax the sun again.
It's full of worth and goodness, too,
with nearly countless hints—
It's worth a million dollars, and doesn't cost a cent.

There is no room for sadness when we see a sunny smile;
It always has the same good look—it's never out of style—
It serves us on to try again when failure smites us sore;
The smiles of encouragement are good for me and you.
It pays a higher interest for it is merely lent—
It's worth a million dollars, and
doesn't cost a cent.

A smile comes very easy—you can write it up with cheer
A hundred times before you can squeeze out a sorry tear.
It ripples out, moreover, to the heart strings that will tug,
And always leaves an echo that is very like a bug.
So, smile away, folks understand what by a smile is meant,
It's worth a million dollars, and
doesn't cost a cent.

INCOMPLETENESS.

Nothing smiling in its own completeness
Can have worth or beauty; but alone
Because it leads and tends to further sweetness,
Faith, higher, deeper than its own.

Spring's real glory dwells not in the blooming,
Gleams through it be, of her blue blossoms;
But in hidden in her tender longing
To the summer's richer wealth of flowers.

Down to face, because the white face glows
Into day, with floods the world
with light;
Twilight's mystery is so sweet and hazy
Just because it ends in starry night.

Children's smiles are precious grace brought
From earth, that is a far off future
day;
And Angel Gleams—valued now by life's sorrow—
Draw our hearts to some beloved eye.

Life is only bright when it penetrates
Towards a truth, deeper life above;
Hence there is content when it looks up
To a more divine and perfect love.

Learn the mystery of forgiveness
daily
Be an ex-act witness change,
Dearly,
But know we can't hold our treasure fast
When it means as if they passed away.

For does it mean God's gifts for the complacent?
In that word there beauty lies, there rest Toward some infinite depth of love and rest.

Beating onward man's ambition and
and

LIFE'S SCARS.

They say the world is round, and yet
I often think it square;
So many little hurts we get,
From corners here and there,
But one great truth in life I've found,
While journeying to the west,
The only folks we really wound
Are those we love the best.

The man you thoroughly despise
Can cause your wrath, 'tis true;
Annoyance in your heart will rise
At things mere strangers do;
But those are only passing life,
This rule all lives will prove:
The smacking wound which aches and throbs
Is dealt by hands we love.

The choicest garb, the sweetest grace
Are oft to strangers shown;
The careless smile, the frowning face
Are given to our own.
We better those we scarcely know,
We please the flying guest—
And deal full many a thoughtless blow
To those who love us best.

HOME COMING.

When life's hours of toil are ended,
And my day draws to a close,
When the bells of evening chiming
Call me to my long repose,
Dearly my feet shall hasten,
And my eyes shall look to see,
Standing close by Heaven's portals,
Loved ones waiting there for me.

They who long from that far country Watched me as I faltered on,
In faith's weary round of labor,
Strength and courage almost gone,
When they see me drop life's burdens
And so Heaven's refuge find,
Swift will gather round the portals,
Loved ones waiting there for me.

And when on their silver kingly,
Wide the gates of pearl shall swing,
And by grace of Him who loved me,
I am suffered to come in;
First, of Heaven's joys, to greet me
In that joyful hour shall be,
As I pass those shining portals,
Loved ones waiting there for me.

Then the cords, which earth's rude conflict
Here had broken, shall be joined,
And beyond death's gloomy kingdom
Still more strongly shall be twined.
Ah, my heart, fall not thy slinging,
Though the way may weary be,
Soon my joyful eyes shall see those
Loved ones waiting there for me.

THE BUILDERS.

I watch the builders toiling day by
day,
From morn till night on girder,
arch and span,
As one by one the shapes comes they lay
To follow and complete the Master's plan.

The mason, toly workman does not know
The fair design the architect has planned;
He does not question as he tells his law,
Nor strive the master's thought to understand.

On column, capital and corner stone
He builds carefully and true and square,
Trusting the master workman's art alone
To shape the whole and make it grand and fair.

And soon the structure all completed
stands,
A masterpiece beside the busy mart,
A monument to wisdom, skill and hand, Whence each toly builder did his part.

We are all workmen toiling here below,

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D. C.—While the new tariff law has been in operation for somewhat less than two months, yet on every side can be found evidence that proves the wisdom of its framers. All fair-minded people have ceased and criticisms or objections to particular schedules which did not suit them at the time of the passage of the bill. They realize that heretofore the law must be judged by the results of its operation and are willing to give the measure a full test before either condemning it as a whole or any particular schedule or rate.

Those who had most to do with its framing and passage, as well as the President himself, who promptly signed it when it reached him, pronounced it the best tariff law that was ever put on our statute books. That, of course, is a matter of personal opinion, but if business continues as it has begun under the operation of the new law, there is no doubt whatever that the President's estimate of the new law will be fully vindicated.

It is as yet too early to judge of the effects of the new law upon our foreign trade, and until we reach a normal degree of importations it will be difficult to estimate whether the amount of revenue from import duties will be equal to the expectations of those who framed the bill with a view to increasing our National income. Importations during the last three months have shown large increases, but this might still be true and yet there be no increase in duties. The fact of the matter is that for three months we have imported more than we have exported, a condition of foreign trade which has not existed for a great many years. It is hardly probable that this excess of importations will continue, but there seems to be no doubt our balance of trade for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1910, will be less than any year since 1897. In only three years since 1875 have our imports exceeded our exports, while for the past ten years our favorable balance of trade has averaged over five hundred millions of dollars annually.

It will be quite time to attempt an analysis of our foreign trade after the new tariff law has been in operation at least six months. As for domestic industrial activity there is nothing to report except progress, and in some directions this progress is almost phenomenal. In the first place a very good agricultural crop has been secured, which, while it is not in anyway a record breaker, will probably give in return to the farmer as great a value as that of any former year. Following this we have the weekly reports of the diminution of empty freight cars with the likelihood that in a month or so more we will again be approaching another car famine—this, perhaps, is the greatest barometer of business conditions we have.

Next to this indication is the condition of the iron and steel market, where orders are now being placed at premiums for delivery. In fact, the iron and steel business of the country is at present developed in a volume of orders greater than ever was before known, the output of pig-iron is again reaching record breaking figures, while the demands for structural material are far beyond the power of producers to supply. This demand for structural material shows the condition of the building trade, which shows a record of new construction nearly 5 per cent greater than a year ago and gradually approaching the records of 1907.

The reports of the commercial agencies show that wholesale, jobbing and retailing trade throughout the country is assuming a very heavy volume—that collections are fairly good and that an enormous holiday business is anticipated. In line of goods where production is anticipated several months, orders are being placed largely in excess of previous season.

It is believed then, that the tariff law has resulted first, in the restoration of complete confidence in business and financial circles throughout the entire country; secondly, in the investment of capital, particularly in building enterprises to an extent never before known, and third, in an indication of the increase of consumption to an extent that producers will soon have to employ the full capacity of every factory and mill in the land. This condition will soon result in the employment of every man who wants work and is worthy of it in the United States and at wages as high as ever was before known.

new bill and see what effect it has upon the general prosperity and upon individual loss or gain. One thing can be very definitely stated at the outset, that a repeal of the duty or a lowering of the duty upon any product will not result in the lowering of the price of that product. Boots and shoes will be no cheaper because of free hides, and the lowering of the duty upon finished products of leather, nor will boot and shoe workers in factories receive any higher wages—so much is settled here—but there will be an immense increase in the importation of hides, and this increase so far has not lowered the price, but has put into operation many hitherto idle tanneries, and as that extent will benefit those so employed, if, then, there is a market for American hides without a decrease in price, then the new result of free hides should be an increased employment of those engaged in tanning, and the survival of an industry that has well nigh been wiped out.

As has been the case with all previous Republican tariffs, some new industries are developed. The New York Times, although a free trade paper, admits that the new tariff which has made a great increase in the rates of duty on cheap jewelry, and which established a new classification, has made the factories in this class of jewelry busier than they have been for years—many of them being operated day and night to meet the demand that is anticipated from now on until the holiday season. Heretofore we imported most of this stuff from France, Austria and Germany; now the new tariff will allow us to make it for ourselves and thousands of American workmen will thus be employed.

It can be very confidently stated that so far as is known no American industry has been injured by the new law, while on the contrary thousands and hundreds of thousands of American workmen have been given employment. Confidence has been fully restored, capital invested, and with every indication that we are approaching an era of record breaking industrial activity.

ANSWERS EVERY CALL.

Maine People Have Found That This Is True.

A cold, a strain, a sudden wrench, A little cause may hurt the kidneys. Spells of backache often follow. Or some irregularity of the urine. A certain remedy for such attacks, A medicine that answers every call, Is Dean's Kidney Pills, a true specific.

Many Maine people rely on it. Here is Bethel proof. W. Scott Robertson, living on Mason street, Bethel, Me., says: "Two or three years ago I had a severe attack of backache. This trouble clung to me for some time and I was unsuccessful in my efforts for relief. A neighbor recommended Dean's Kidney Pills, saying that he had been through their use. I was so much impressed that I went to W. E. Hossier, man's drug store, and procured a supply. It required only the use of two boxes to banish the pains and restore my kidneys to a normal condition. I have not had any return of the trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Dean's—and take no other.

Recipe of Spring Lamb Roasted. Neatly trim a good-sized rib of spring lamb. Lay it in a small, lightly buttered roasting pan. Season with a teaspoonful of salt and a half teaspoonful of white pepper, well rubbed in all over. Pour a tablespoonful of hot water into the pan. Spread half an ounce of butter over the ribs. Roast in a brisk oven to roast for ten minutes, then turn it over, baste it well and let roast for 25 minutes more. Dress on a hot dish. Skim the fat from the gravy. Strain the gravy over the lamb. Decorate the dish with fresh watercress and serve with a tall of mint sauce in a sauceboat separately.

Fish Croquettes. Rub together three tablespoonfuls of flour, one of butter, and stir into one-half pint of rich milk. Add a teaspoonful of grated onion. Roll until it thickens, then stir in two cupfuls of cold cooked fish and let the mixture boil up again. Season with salt and pepper and set aside. When cold roll into croquettes, dip in beaten egg and bread crumbs and fry in hot fat. Serve with peas, green, or French string beans garnished with slices of hard-boiled eggs.

Ham Muffins. Two tablespoonfuls of baking powder stirred with one pint of flour; add one egg, well beaten, one cupful of sweet milk, one tablespoonful of sugar, pinch of salt. Mix in one cupful of flour, chop the ham (with a little of the fat), bake 20 minutes in a moderate oven in one pan.

AFTER THE PROPOSAL.

THE FUTURE OF FLIGHT.

The convalescent aviator, Mr. Crutcher at his side, sat in a wheel chair on the beach. "Man already, in his primitive airplane, flew 15 times better than the bird," he said. "Think how he'll fly in 1915, in 1925, in 1935!" "A 15-pound bird in flight puts out a tenth of one-horsepower—that's all his strength. Man's primitive airplane, in which one single man has 15 horse power, is the aggregate more than 150 horse power or 50,000 foot pounds of energy every 12 pounds of his weight. It's horsepower. It is 50 times stronger than a bird." "Man, flying a few hours, almost beats the bird 15 times over. Why will he do when he has been flying a century? Why, he'll go round the world in 24 hours. He'll circle the globe in eternal sunshine with the sun. There will be aeroplanes sailing over the sunsets in his course, and these blessed people will pour down any and night, the most terrible and the most beautiful."

his brother at Searsport, returned home
last week.

Annie Poland spent Wednesday and Thursday night at the home of her parents, at East Peru.

Chas. Standish has finished work for
O. L. Paine.

Mrs. Florence York and sister Gladys
Whittemore, went to Portland Wednesday.

Mr. Orson Merrill and family started Sunday for their farm in Litchfield to pick their apples.

Mrs. Mary Greenleaf is having a cellar dug under her house.

Harry Purlington expects to move to Smithville soon.

John Putnam of Peru, is working for
O. L. Paine.

Mrs. Lulah Band of Carthage, was a guest of Mrs. Chas Russell last week.

Quite a crowd from here attended the fair at Canton, last Wednesday.

Mrs. Chas. Russell and Miss Mary Stowell went to Rumford Friday.

Mrs. Nellie Smart of Belfast, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. D. A.
Gates, last week.

Mrs. Enos Farnum of Milton, Me., was a guest at the home of her brother,
Clarence Childs, Wednesday night.

Mrs. Ada E. March, who has been visiting relatives at Berry Mills, came down home Tuesday, but returned the same day to remain a while longer with her father, Mr. Berry, who is quite ill.

C. A. Frost, who has been sick for two weeks, is able to go to work again.

Leon Luce and bride are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Luce.

and brother Freeland, for a few days.

Most everyone is affected with a bad cold. It seems to be an epidemic going the rounds.

A. F. Carter and family, who served food at Canton fair, returned home Saturday night.

The rain came which was very much needed as there are several wells dry, and they have to haul water from springs.

Adelbert Kidder of Rumford, was in town Saturday, looking after apples.

Apples are scarce, but quite large and well colored up in this vicinity.

Charles Clark of Hebron visited his niece, Mrs. Edie Davenport Tuesday night, going to Canton fair Wednesday.

A Night Jail.

"As for me," remarked young Maggie, "I don't believe in the higher education for girls. The one I marry won't know Latin or Greek."
"I can readily believe that," replied Miss Blodgett. "A girl who knows anything at all won't marry you."

WEST PARIS.

The Weekly Happenings as Gleaned by Our Special
Staff Reporter.

Bally Day was observed Sunday, the 26th at the Universalist Sunday School with a good attendance. After the special opening exercises there were several choruses sung by the school.
There was also a penny song by four children and a prayer hymn at the close of the collection. A duet "Be Kind," was sung by Ivan Tuell and Maynard Chase and the song, "A Bluebird's Story," by Alice E. Barden.

Mr. Freeman L. Cooper and Alice M.
Stewart were recently married at the home of A. E. Marshall on High street.

Mr. Cooper for years made it his home at Mr. Marshall's. Mrs. Cooper is a native of Nova Scotia and the bridal couple have gone there on their wedding trip.

Mrs. F. S. Farnum is making preparations for her semi-annual trip to Rum-ford Corner and will visit Andover Fair next week with her millinery. She will have her millinery opening here
later in the month of October.

Rev. P. L. Melittine and wife have moved to Michigan, where there is a large settlement of Finns, which will leave his people here without a pastor.

Mr. Melittine has left at Lauri Immonen's a nice young horse which he wishes to sell.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis M. Mann are visiting in Massachusetts for a week or two.

Mann's clothes pin mill is shut down
for a few weeks.

Leonard B. Swan has purchased the house on Greenwood St. which was owned and occupied by A. D. Swift, and will move in at once. Mr. Swift and family will move into Mrs. Moon-ey's rent vacated by Mr. Swan.

Mrs. James B. Watson D. D. Grand Matron, from Portland, who was here at the meeting of Granite Chapter, O. E. S., last week, was entertained by Mrs. F. E. Wheeler.

Several ladies met at the home of Mrs. Wheeler last Monday afternoon to consider the matter of forming a reading club. They will meet at the same place in two weeks.

Grange Hall is being pushed to completion and the walls are up with the following inscription in front "1909
West Paris Grange, No. 298, Organized 1883." The roof is now being put up and it will make a handsome building.

Dr. O. K. Yates and Mrs. Anna C.
Young are improving their buildings with a coat of paint.

E. D. Stillwell, who has been very ill of gastritis, is reported as now improving.

Several from her attended the State rifle shoot at Bryant Pond last week.

Miss Agnes L. Gray is attending high school at South Paris.

Clarence L. Bidlon attended the State
postmasters' convention at Portland,
last week.

Mrs. D. E. Pierce of Bath is a guest at Dr. F. E. Wheeler's.

They Didn't Have to Change.

During the years in which our pure food laws have been put into effect there has been a great hurrying and scurrying on the part of the food manufacturers to change their methods to make them conform to the law.

The Quaker Oats Company is a conspicuous exception. It was admitted that Quaker Oats was as pure and clean as possible and that it was an ideal food.

It is so cheap that any one can afford it and so nourishing that everyone needs it. The result of last year's experiments at Yale and other points where food values were tested is that Quaker Oats has been adopted by many persons as their food on which they rely for adding vigor and endurance of muscle and brain.

The Quaker Oats Company meets all demands in the way it packs Quaker Oats, regular size packages and the large size family packages, the latter both with and without skins.

Percy—Yes, I passed last summer

Prudence—How funny! You must have been a mountain lion.

Percy—Yes, and this year I shall Prudence—Gracious! Then you'll

Larger or Smaller?

"Remember," said the friend, "that the eyes of posterity will be on you."

"Yes," answered Senator Ferguson,
"and I am wondering whether future generations will look at me through the big or the little end of the telescope."

FOR BEST RESULTS

IDEAS ESPECIALLY ADAPTED TO BAKING DAY.

Recipe for Oatmeal and Fine Brown
Bread—Cream Puffs and Cream Filling to Be Made in the Home.

Delicious Oatmeal Bread—Into your bread pan put three cupsful of uncooked rolled oats, two tablespoonfuls lard, two-thirds

cupful of brown sugar, one-third cupful of molasses
and a little salt,
then pour over all three cupsful of hot water, and let stand until lukewarm. Have ready one yeast cake dissolved in one cupful of warm water. Put this into the mixture when ready, then add white flour and mix the same as for white bread. It takes about a quart of flour. Let it rise like white bread, and bake very slowly three-quarters of an hour. This is very healthful and nutritious.

Fine Brown Bread—One bowlful
of Indian meal, one bowlful of rye meal, one bowlful of sour milk, one large cupful of molasses, one teaspoonful of soda dissolved in the sour milk and one tablespoonful of salt are the ingredients called for.

Grease a two-quart lard pail, turn in the mixture, put the cover on, and set it in a ten-pound lard pail, with a little hot water in it. Then put the cover on this and place it in the oven. I usually mix mine about noon, and don't look at it until five p. m., when I take it from the pail of water and let it dry off in the oven until supper is ready.

If you cleanse and dress a squash, just splitting it down the back and place in the center of your bean pot when the beans are half done, you will have together with this brown bread a supper fit for a king.

Cream Puffs—These are much nicer than the baker's product. Get together one cupful of water, one-half cupful of butter, boiling these together, stir in one cupful of flour while boiling, take from the fire, and when cool, stir in three eggs not beaten. Bake in a hot oven 25 minutes, avoid opening the oven door, and drop in large spoonfuls on tin.

Cream Filling—Five even teaspoon-fuls of flour, one cupful of milk, one-half cupful of sugar and one egg.
Beat the egg and sugar together, also the flour. Stir all into the milk while it is boiling. Open cakes with knife and fill.

Pound Cake.

Is a useful standby, and as it not only keeps but improves by keeping, it can be made now, when butter and eggs are cheap, and will be a useful cake to have by one. Required: Half a pound each of butter, caster sugar, mixed currants and sultanas, half a teaspoonful each of ground ginger and cinnamon, one tablespoonful each of baking powder and rosewater, five eggs.

Beat the eggs till they are pale, and stir into them the sugar and butter.
Then add slowly the fruit and spices, lastly the brandy and rosewater. Beat well for 15 minutes. Grease a tin, line it with two thicknesses of buttered paper. Pour in the cake and bake in the slow oven for two to two hours and a half. Double quantity of this cake can be made and will keep well.

To Hold Decorations.

If you wish to decorate for a table or a table of a bazaar, the quickest and easiest way to fasten the decorations of vases and flowers is to pin them securely with the smallest size invisible hairpins—saw ones naturally.

These pins hold the trimmings securely in place, and if carefully put in do not make unsightly marks on the cake.

Sour Milk Pancakes.

Beat into a pint of sour milk a level teaspoonful soda, a half teaspoonful salt and flour to make a good consistency for baking. No eggs are needed.
Have the griddle hot and well greased, bake the cakes in perfect circles and pile symmetrically one on top of the other.

Dutch Onion Pie.

Slice six onions, fry in butter to delicate brown, add one-half cupful of milk, one-half cupful of cream, one tablespoonful flour, one well-beaten egg; salt to taste. Have ready a baked pie crust in the usual pie pan and pour in onion mixture. Return to oven and bake to good brown. White of egg may be added to top.

This is a most excellent Holland
Dutch dish.

Newport Cakes for Tea.

Take a pint and a half of flour, a half cup of sugar, a half cup of butter and a cup of milk. Having mingled with the flour two heaping teaspoonfuls of baking powder, add the other ingredients, into which have been stirred two eggs beaten very light. Bake in tin for 35 minutes. This recipe is the American substitute for Scotch scones used at afternoon tea abroad.

Spanish Punch.

Scald six ounces of Jordan almonds and one ounce of bitter almonds. Remove the skins and soak the almonds in cold water for several hours; then pound them to a pulp with two tablespoonfuls of orange flower water.
Add two cupfuls of powdered sugar,
one pint of orange juice, and three pints of water. Strain and serve with crushed ice.
